

Equipping Christians
to live out their unique
God-given purpose

Pac-Man or Tank Man?

Pac-Man is one of the most popular and enduring computer video games in history. Players play the game by controlling a small graphic character as it races through a maze earning points by eating pac-dots. But a group of four enemies roam the maze seeking to destroy Pac-Man.

Many people are like Pac-Man racing through the maze of life collecting prestige, power, position, and possessions. But enemies lurk everywhere – bankruptcy, unemployment, moral failures, etc. – that threaten their very existence.

Then there are those that live their lives like Tank Man. In 1989 millions watched on TV as Tank Man stood in front of a single tank and refused to move out of the way. The vehicle swerved one way, then the other, to try to maneuver around the protester, but Tank Man positioned himself in front of the tank wherever it moved. Eventually the tanks moved on, but the image of one unknown man's peaceful protest inspired the entire world.

Tank Man was willing to give his life for what he believed in - a free democratic China. What do you believe in so strongly you'd be willing to give your life for it? What specifically would you lay down your life to advance the cause of Christ? Feeding the homeless? Reaching the lost in Africa? Building stronger Christian marriages? Strengthening the Church? I'd give my life for believers to live out their unique, God-given purpose. How about you?
